Selectmen's Meeting

FEBRUARY 12, 1985 - by VIRGINIA ARRAL

ADOPT HERRING SCHEDULE FOR 1985

At the annual Herring Meeting held January 31 representatives from the three towns of Marion, Mattapoisett and Rochester who comprise the Tri-Town Herring Committee voted to adopt the following schedule for catching herring:

Fishing will be allowed Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday (weather permitting), sunrise to sunset.

Prices adopted for fee schedule:

$3.00 per bushel-River Run
50 cents per dozen-mixed fish
$1.00 per dozen-selected fish
$1.25 per pint-roe
$3.00 per bushel-cut fish
$5.00 per bushel-select Roe fish

Members of the committee are Selectman James Huntoon, representing the Mattapoisett Board of Selectmen; Antone Nunes, Mattapoisett Herring Inspector; Rochester Selectman David Hughes, William Watling, Rochester's Herring Inspector; Homer Robinson, Marion's Herring Inspector, attended; however, Marion's Selectman Joseph Zora was unable to attend.

In other business, Selectmen last Tuesday:

REPORTED on a joint meeting with an engineer from the state Department of Public Works to view the road at the entrance of the Industrial Park. Selectmen have been trying to find ways to have the road straightened and had requested the state give an opinion of the project. According to the state engineer, there is a 50 percent radius and this is sufficient to maneuver the curves in the road.

The board agreed to write to Edwin Livingstone, owner of the abutting property, asking if the town may have permission to cut down some shrubs along the roadway to allow for better visibility.

APPOINTED the following persons as alternates to the Board of Appeals: Sylvia Fales, Elizabeth Kunz, E. Mason Welling and Clifton Lopes.

RECEIVED A LETTER from Dennis Winn of Stoney Hill Road informing the board of his concerns regarding the present road conditions on Stoney Hill Road and Pinewood Way. Selectmen were of the opinion that owner of the private roads, James Bungert, should be responsible for minor repairs, such as pot holes. The board asked Carol Adams, executive secretary. to check on the road plans to determine if there is anything that can be done.

RECEIVED WORD from Senator William Q. MacLean that a letter from John Hannon, Chief Engineer, Department of Environmental Management, indicates no funds are currently available for this project. Senator MacLean advised the board that he will be seeking money through a line item appropriation in the first budget this year.

EXPRESSED CONCERN of the President's proposal to eliminate Revenue Sharing funding for the future. The board will write to their Congressman urging that the funds remain in the budget.

Selectmen Chairman John DeCosta noted Mattapoisett uses the Revenue Sharing Funds to cover the Highway Department and Fire Department payrolls. If this money was not coming in, the town would either have to raise and appropriate it or eliminate some positions from the two departments.

WERE INFORMED by George Tobey of SEMASS that State Representative Flood has filed a bill which will cover all or part of the acid gas control costs to the town for at least the first three years.

Selectmen were concerned when they were informed by SEMASS that stricter controls were placed on the building to house the refuse treatment plant in Rochester; thus each town in the area under contract to supply rubbish to the plant would have to pay a higher weighing fee.

RECEIVED A LETTER from the Mattapoisett Board of Health addressed to the Mattapoisett Lions Club in which Chairman Daniel C. Lee said, "It is the feeling of the Mattapoisett Board of Health that the project making a ball field should be indefinitely suspended in view of the potential hazard associated with reclaimed land. As you know, the land on which you are planning your project is the old dump. The Health Board will, in the spring, remove the soil, and return the area to its original state."

HELD A PUBLIC HEARING on the placing of three poles by ComElectric on Tinkham Lane. Homeowners William and Beth Oliver of 19 Tinkham Lane did not object to the poles but wanted to clarify their position with the electric company. Mrs. Oliver said she and her husband leased a pole four years ago with the understanding they use a certain amount of electricity each week and that if another house was built between theirs and another house, the lease would be broken.

The Olivers said they had a five-year contract with the electric company and would bring it in for the executive secretary to have checked with ComElectric to determine just where the Olivers stand. The board voted to allow the poles to be installed.

Rochester Residents, Taxpayers

The Rochester Firefighters' Association is sponsoring a fund-raising drive to replace Engine 4. Engine 4 is a 1953 International Brush Breaker that is in its final years. Its main function is fighting forest fires and without this apparatus it could mean devastation to our forest during fires.

truck at this point in time. Proposition 2½ has taken its toll on our finances. The high school needs a new roof and the Memorial School is busting at the seams. We all know if we put it on the warrant what is going to happen.

The Fire Association has, in the past, bought or built fire apparatus with the money we have raised. Out of ten pieces of equipment now in use, five have been bought by the town. The Association has just recently finished building a 2,500 gallon tanker which replaced a 5,500 gallon tank trailer. Also, in the past years we have bought a 750 GPM Pumper, Rescue Truck, Rescue Boat and the current truck we are trying to replace. All of these vehicles have been paid for by the Fire Association and donated to the town at NO cost to its taxpayers.

We have also held dances and raffles but we can't do it on our own. Our last resort is to ask residents and taxpayers to lend a helping hand.

Your tax deductible contribution is greatly needed and appreciated. Your contribution can be sent to: Sandwich Co-op Bank, 261 Main Street, Wareham, MA. 02571, c/o Frederick Underhill, or Ron James, 147 Sarah Sherman Road, Rochester, MA. 02770.

VIDEOLOK * ANTI-THEFT DEVICE

FOR ALL VHS FORMAT VCRs

- IDEAL AS A LOW-COST HOME ANTI-THEFT DEVICE.
- PREVENTS CHILDREN FROM USING VIDEO RECORDER WITHOUT PARENTAL PERMISSION.
- EAR PIERCING 98dB ALARM SOUNDS IF UNIT IS MOVED WHEN ARMED.
- THOROUGHLY TESTED AND PROVEN RELIABLE.

Simply pop the Videolok into your VCR (it looks like a regular VHS Cassette Tape), turn the key, and, if anyone tries to tamper or pick up your VCR, a 98dB alarm is activated! So simple to use!

Most burglars try to steal items that can be "fenced" quickly and easily - items such as TVs, jewelry, and VCRs. By utilizing the Videolok anti-theft device, a thief is discouraged from staying in your home since the alarm can only be de-activated with your key! He won't even want your VCR! What a great burglary deterrent! And, since most homeowners' insurance policies have a $250.00 deductible, the Videolok Anti-Theft Device is an inexpensive way to protect your VCR!

in the fall. She then went on to state competition where she was selected the Division II winner. Division II represents all schools in the state with a senior class of 100-150 members. On March 29th Ms. Riedl will attend a luncheon in Newton honoring all Division winners. At that time the State Good Citizen will be selected from the Division winners.

As a senior, Ms. Riedl serves as President of the National Honor Society, President of the Drama Club, President of SADD, Captain of the track team and yearbook editor. She is also a member of the school's newspaper staff, has participated in Project Excel and was a member of the Search and Screening Committee last summer.

In December Ms. Riedl was accepted on the Early Action Plan at Princeton University. She plans to pursue a major in psychology.

Our symbol—a single sail against the sky. It says something about our people and the kind of service we provide at Fairhaven Savings Bank.

It suggests a small boat, a personal way to get where you want to go. We're that kind of bank. Informal, accessible and helpful. We make it easy for you to achieve your financial goals.

It has the precise lines which reflect attention to detail. That's how we handle your business. Our service is reliable and consistent. In a word, professional.

Lastly, it reflects our community and its boating tradition—something we've been a part of for more than 150 years. We're close to our customers and responsive to local needs.

As the sail suggests, we're also moving forward to serve you better.

Land at Marion Harbor ... A Unique Offering ...

Three estate-sized parcels now available on Buzzards Bay offer a rare opportunity to acquire exclusive home sites in a prime location. Secluded natural shoreline beauty, ocean access, and spectacular views set apart this unspoiled land offering. Completely private, on parcels of 8 acres or more, the land extends through mature mixed tree cover down to salt marsh and Marion Outer Harbor. Each choice parcel is fully protected with deeded covenants.

Thank You

On Sunday, February 10th, it was my pleasure to attend the Valentine Party at St. Anthony's along with so many other people.

It was truly a heart-warming day and I must give thanks to all the "Special People" who worked together to make it happen.

The food was delicious and the young people who served were a delight as were all the other volunteers who arranged for transportation, flowers and all the details which made it such a success.

Yes, Mattapoisett is "Special" and we are privileged to live in a town where people care so much.

Thank you all.

Marion W. Kerst.

HEART ASSOCIATION THANK YOU

On Sunday, February 3rd, the American Heart Association and the Old Rochester Regional High School Honor Society sponsored a phone-a-thon to raise money to fight heart disease. This is the third year the phone-a-thon has been sponsored by the Honor Society.

Students manned the phones at Sippican Ocean Systems from 12:00 to 6:00 p.m. calling residents in Marion and Mattapoisett.

Democratic Town Committee

The Mattapoisett Town Democratic Committee held a delegate selection caucus Saturday, February 9, 1985 in the Conference Room of the Town Hall. Elected as delegates to the Massachusetts State Convention were John N. DeCosta, Gaetana D'Agata and Patricia C. McGlone. Elected as alternate delegates were Dorothy J. Lewis and Joseph T. McGlone. Bernard F. Talty, Chairman, will serve ex officio. The Convention to adopt a new State Party platform and consider amendments to the Charter of the Democratic Party of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts will be held May 18, 1985 in Springfield.

The Platform Committee will be holding hearings around the state and a schedule as to time and location will be available soon. Former Congressman James Shannon of Lawrence will head the platform drafting committee.

The JFK Scholar Award Applications for COLLEGE seniors who have shown an interest in the field of American politics are available. Two $1500.00 awards will be presented to college seniors at the State Convention. Applications must be in by April 15, 1985. For further information call Barbara J. Sawyer, 758-2482.

Sign Language at Center School

On Tuesday, February 26th, the children at Center School will see a program on sign language called "See What I'm Saying". Educators Joanna Zarkados and Ginny Sands of Framingham will present sign language as a method of communication and an art form. The program promotes a better understanding of the deaf community, broadens perspectives on communication in general and stimulates an interest in a new language. It teaches simple skills using the finger alphabet, words, phrases, games and music. "See What I'm Saying" actively involves every child during the entire program.

The program for Grades K and 1 will be at 1:00 (35 minutes long); and Grades 2 and 3 is at 1:45 (45 minutes long).

Who is going to fix your oil burner on a cold, wintery Sunday night?

Your full service heating oil dealer.

That's part of our job, sometimes the most important part! We have more than fuel oil. We offer maintenance and equipment. Our organization is staffed to serve all your heating system needs. Experienced technicians are ready to respond when you need help quick.

And, they're also available before you need emergency aid. We specialize in preventive maintenance and heating system energy audits. They can save you money by saving fuel.

And, we are equipped to provide the new-technology, high-efficiency burners and hot water units that can pay for themselves in just a few years.

Make us your single source when it comes to heating. All our resources are ready to work together to help you . . . whenever you call.

FINE ARTS GROUP

Artist, lecturer and art historian Betty K. Knowles will be the guest speaker at the Monday, March 4, meeting of the Fine Arts Group of the Mattapoisett Woman's Club. A graduate of Wellesley College, Mrs. Knowles continued her education in the fields of Art History and Practical Art at Harvard, Radcliffe and the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. She presently teaches practical art to students in her studio at One Bridge Street, Padanaram.

Mrs. Knowles is a well-respected speaker and has lectured regularly in the New England area on many phases of Art History - from King Tut to modern times, but her area of particular excellence lies in Impressionism. She will present a discussion of etchings and how internationally recognized artist Mary Cassatt achieved her special colours in her acclaimed portraits.

We encourage Fine Arts Group members to invite guests. There is a $4.00 per person advance reservation fee. Please mail checks to H. Elayne Sama, 97 Olde Knoll Road, Marion.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Philip Murray, 9 Channing Road, Mattapoisett. Join us in meeting Mrs. Knowles as she helps us become better acquainted with the artistry of American Impressionist Mary Cassatt.

Letters to the Editor

As a Lincoln admirer, I enjoyed Laurence A. Fogg's letter published February 13; particularly the observation "With very little formal education . . . Lincoln wrote the purest prose ever written in the English language . . ."

This puts me in mind of Mr. Lincoln's own description of his education, in his autobiography dated December 20, 1859: "There were some schools, but no qualification was required of a teacher beyond 'readin', writin', and cipherin' to the rule of three'. There was absolutely nothing to excite ambition for education. Of course, when I came of age I did not know much. Still, somehow, I could read, write and cipher to the rule of three, but that was all. I have not been to school since. The little advance I now have upon this store of education I have picked up from time to time under the pressure of necessity."

(Note: Although "the rule of three" has dropped out of our everyday speech, it is the exercise of proportions, when three quantities are known and we wish to find a fourth which is unknown. For example: x : 4 : : 5 : 10; 10x = 20; x = 2.)

While Abraham Lincoln was splitting rails and doing other sweat-inducing labor, he dreamed of becoming a lawyer; he did, and a very good lawyer he was. He didn't get there by dreaming; he had learned how to read and write, so he read and he wrote to such good purpose that he overcame the handicaps of little elementary school, and no high school, college and law school.

Whether or not he read Bacon, he agreed with that writer's rule that "reading maketh a full man". It is certain that he read the King James Version of the Bible, perhaps the finest literary production in the English language.

There is a difference between schooling and education. We can be thankful that Mr. Lincoln knew the difference, and never stopped his education until his tragic end.

ed by old and young - not only to see how the General Court (that is what the legislature is called) conducts business, but also to visit the Hall of Flags and other places where historic paintings of great beauty are to be seen. One of the most compelling statues in the Senate Staircase Hall shows a young woman tending a wounded soldier - a memorial to the nurses who took part in the Civil War.

The skylight overhead (in the Hall of Flags) is of colored glass, showing the seals of the 13 original states.

The State Flag has an Indian warrior on one side and a green pine tree on a blue shield upon the other - one of the few states whose flag has two distinctly different sides.

Massachusetts is also one of the five Commonwealths in our country, and when the Latin motto is translated it says: "With the sword she seeks peace under liberty".

It always pleases me to remember that our State flower is the exquisite Mayflower (Arbutus), and the State bird the Chickadee which keeps us all busy this time of year refilling our bird feeders with sunflower seed as they bring us a happy eye-catching show every day.

Massachusetts history - the Pilgrims - Paul Revere - Lexington and Concord - the bravery and courage of our ancestors surely should add hope and faith in the good which will come in future Massachusetts history.

SEALS IN SOUTH DARTMOUTH

The Lloyd Center for Environmental Studies has sighted a large number of seals in the area of the Slocum and Little Rivers in South Dartmouth. The seals, harbor seals (Phoca vitulina concolor) have been observed almost every day on the rocks outside of the Slocum River and near Mishaum Point. The group, of nearly 20 at a time, has been seen sunning themselves on what are called hauling-out sites. These wonderful animals can be observed from the observation decks of the Center or from the area near the Little River Bridge. To get a good view requires either binoculars or telescope. The Center has a telescope set up for public viewing of these animals.

Harbor seals are one of the smaller but more common seals of northern waters. A thorough inventory of hauling-out sites was performed by Mike Payne of Manomet Bird Observatory in 1982-84. The Lloyd Center surveyed hauling-out sites from Westport to Fairhaven in 1983-84 and located seven places where seals appeared to sun themselves on relatively warm and sunny days. These locations and the species of seals were reported to Manomet for their research. Lloyd Center volunteers Bob Caron, Bob Maker and Mike Ryer were able to only find seven seals on seven rocks in 1983-84.

The excitement at the Center about this year's seal population is based upon the number and ease of viewing of the seals. Seals have been seen feeding and swimming in the Slocum River, sunning themselves on rocks and generally cavorting in the Slocum River Embayment. Tom Bell, volunteer to the Center, observed seals while he was rowing in our waters in December. They appeared to be curious of him and swam around the boat.

Harbor seals are not the only seals observed in our area but are most common. They grow from 4-6 feet in length, feed on fish, shrimp, squid, and mollusks, and although they do not migrate, usually avoid heavy ice and move south with ease of food supply. The 20 (approximately) seals observed in our area probably originated on the coast of Maine where they breed and raise young. They form loose colonies which haul out together for sleeping.

The other seal species found in our waters is the gray seal (Halichoerus grypus), a much larger (males grow to 6-10 feet in length) and less wide spread animal. In contrast to the harbor seal's mottled coloration, gray seals are uniformly dark and appear larger on rocks or in the water. They are more elusive and wary. The only grey seal confirmed sighting in our area was in 1982 off of Salter's Point.

The public is invited to observe these animals without disturbing them from the Center at 430 Potomska Road. For additional information about seals or other animals of our coastal zone please call the Lloyd Center at 990-0505.

WORKSHOP FOR EDUCATORS
MARINE SCIENCE IN THE CLASSROOMS

On Saturday, March 9th, the Lloyd Center for Environmental Studies and the Southeastern New England Marine Educators will sponsor a workshop for educators. Marine Science in the Classroom will offer teachers and other educators an opportunity to meet with representatives from marine related science centers and museums throughout Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Workshops on plankton ecology, salt water aquaria, animal behavior, waves, tides and beach erosion activities will be offered. Designing and implementing your own oceanography activities for use in the conventional classroom will also be discussed.

Marine Science in the Classroom will be held from 9:00 to 4:00 at the Lloyd Center in South Dartmouth. Fees are $20.00 for Lloyd Center and SENEME members and $25.00 for nonmembers. Reservations can be made by contacting the Lloyd Center at 990-0505. Advanced registration is required.

Reviving Irish Lacemaking

FORMER AREA RESIDENT WINS STATE GRANT

Judith Bernier Brandau, the daughter of Conrad and Anita Bernier of Rochester, was recently named the recipient of a grant from the Pennsylvania Council on the Arts. Called an "Apprenticeship Grant", the $3,000 award allows Ms. Brandau, as master teacher, to instruct students over an extended period of time. The work is being supervised by the Center for the History of American Needlework in Pittsburgh, and this organization is sponsoring a greater community outreach.

Staying in the realm of traditional needlework, Judith will teach traditional Irish Crochet Lacemaking. This form of lace, which was developed in Ireland as a famine relief measure, was popular in this country at the beginning of this century, but declined in use after World War I, it is almost extinct today. Judith and her students are encouraging its revival. Better Homes & Gardens magazine has become interested through efforts of this group and several Irish designs have been purchased for publication in various issues of their periodicals. The first designs will appear late this year with others scheduled to follow in the next three years.

Area residents will remember Judith's early needlework contributions as being in the area of English Smocking, and this she still practices. Her interest in Irish Lacemaking grew out of a desire to make her own creations more elegant and historically correct. During the Victorian and Edwardian eras most fine clothing imported from Paris was embellished with handmade Irish Lace and stitched with methods now known as French Handsewing. Those garments, now antiques, are treasured heirlooms. A similar destiny is what Judith wants for her own confections. One project, a child's dress with matching bonnet, has succeeded; it is housed in the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C.

Judith's first professional work was done in the New Bedford area. Selling smocked children's dresses to residents, she was able to help pay tuition at Southeastern Massachusetts University where she took courses in textiles as electives.

Today she still takes custom orders for smocked wedding gowns and christening sets, but is spending more of her time teaching and designing for national magazines. Periodically she travels throughout New England teaching English Smocking, French Sewing and Irish Lacemaking. She will be passing through the area between April 28 and May 5, 1985 on her way from an engagement in Washington, D.C. to one in Boston. Interested groups who would like to schedule a workshop or have her speak can contact her at RD #1, Butler, PA. 16001.

SACHEM Lecture Series

TALK ON "NUMEROLOGY AND POETRY"

A talk on "Numerology and Poetry" will be given by James Bobrick, associate professor of liberal arts at the Swain School of Design, at Southeastern Massachusetts University on February 28th.

Sponsored by the SACHEM Lecture Series, the free, public lecture will take place at 3:30 p.m. in the Sunset Room of the SMU Campus Center.

During the Middle Ages and the Renaissance poets frequently ordered their works according to clear and consistent patterns of number symbolism. Professor Bobrick will sketch the main outlines of the numerological tradition and discuss some of the ways numerical organization was applied to poetry. He received bachelor's and doctoral degrees from Boston University.

SACHEM, the Southeastern Association for Cooperation in Higher Education in Massachusetts, is a consortium of nine institutions of higher education in the region dedicated to the proposition that significant educational benefits accrue through inter-institutional cooperation. The lecture series, open to the public, is one of the results of this cooperation. SACHEM members are Bridgewater State College, Bristol Community College, Cape Cod Community College, Dean Junior College, Massachusetts Maritime Academy, Massasoit Community College, Stonehill College, Swain School of Design, and SMU.

This year's team is again headed for State Tournament play and is boasting a 13-6 season, bringing Mr. Shockro's total wins to 202.

When you talk to John about basketball he will tell you his greatest thrill is just coaching the game and seeing the individual players improve. He has also been active as the Physical Education instructor at the Junior High, Assistant Football Coach for 8 years, a previous Head Coach for 2 years, and is active in Junior High School intramurals.

John, his wife Cathy, and their three children, Todd, Tim, and John, reside in Mattapoisett.

Mr. Donald Murphy, Principal, and Mr. Joao Rodrigues, Athletic Director, presented Mr. Shockro with a 200th win plaque on behalf of the athletic department and school.

FILM SERIES FEATURE

"Sabina Sanchez and the Art of Embroidery" and "Gwendolyn Brooks" are the films to be shown at the Standish Film Series presentation on Tuesday, February 26th, from 7 to 9 p.m.

"Gwendolyn Brooks" portrays the leading American poet reciting some of her poems and describing her method of writing.

"Sabina Sanchez and the Art of Embroidery" is an award-winning film about a Zapotec woman in Oaxaca, Mexico. She explains her life and traditions while working on the intricately-embroidered blouse of her native village costume.

The film series is open to the public. A one dollar donation is requested. Refreshments and conversation will follow the films.

WOMEN ALONE

"Let's Keep Going" will be the topic of a slide presentation and talk by Miss Shirley Cohen, a retired librarian and travel enthusiast, at the YWCA Women Alone meeting on Friday, March 1st.

The women will meet at the YWCA at 5 p.m. to go to Bamboo Garden for a Dutch-treat dinner, returning to the YW for a 7:30 business meeting and the program at 8 p.m.

Women Alone is a support group for women who are alone and are looking for companionship, understanding and ways to make being alone a positive experience. For information contact Grace Young at the YWCA, 999-3255.

FRIENDLY VISITOR ROUNDTABLE

"General Audiology" will be discussed by Kathryn Donais, a Speech Clinician from I.H. Schwartz Rehabilitation Center, at the YWCA Friendly Visitor Monthly Roundtable. The Roundtable will be held on Wednesday, February 27th, beginning at 1:45 p.m.

The public is invited.

VACATION WEEK PLUNGES

YWCA will offer pool plunges during School Vacation week, February 19-23: Tuesday, 11 a.m.-noon; Thursday, 11 a.m.-noon; Friday, 4:30-5 p.m.; Saturday, 10:30-11 a.m., 12-1

Women's Center

RAPE CRISIS PROJECT
COUNSELOR TRAINING PROGRAM

The Rape Crisis Project of the New Bedford Women's Center is beginning its third Counselor Training Program and is currently registering interested people to participate.

Diane Dexter, Volunteer Coordinator of the Rape Crisis Project, says that in addition to learning the medical, legal, emotional, and psychological aspects of sexual assault, participants will also learn specific skills that can be applied to many aspects of their lives.

"People frequently experience crises and difficulties in their lives," Ms. Dexter explains, "and the crisis intervention and short term counseling skills we teach can help people to better handle their own life situations."

Ms. Dexter, a Master's Degree candidate at Goddard College, will be teaching the course along with a few other area professionals.

The Rape Crisis 24-Hour Hotline was established 16 months ago. During that time, counselors have worked with over 140 victims of sexual assault and their families.

Ms. Dexter explains the need for sexual assault victims to receive counseling. "Experts have determined," she said, "that victims of violence who are left unsupported often develop a pattern of perpetuating that violence. Males tend to become abusers, and females often involve themselves in abusive relationships." The counseling provided by the Women's Center, she said, is a "tremendous way to relieve the plight of sexual assault victims, as well as to interrupt the cycle of violence that is so dangerously affecting our whole society."

But, as the counselors at the Rape Crisis Project admit, they are unable to keep up with the counseling load by themselves. They have already trained a group of fifteen dedicated volunteers, and are hoping to train at least that many more in March.

Participants need no prior experience. The intensive training will teach all the skills necessary. In return, the Project requests a six month commitment from trainees to staff the Hotline from their home telephone for three to four days or evenings a month.

Ms. Dexter urges all those who are interested and who have the time, to register for the training by calling 993-1842 by Monday, March 4th. The Program will begin on March 12th.

What is multiple sclerosis (MS)? Many people are confused. Yet it's one of the most common central nervous system diseases among young adults in the U.S., with 200 new cases reported each week. Here are some facts you should know:

- At least 250,000 Americans have multiple sclerosis. It's a disease of the brain and spinal cord that interferes with the brain's ability to control such functions as seeing, walking or talking.
- Multiple sclerosis is not a mental illness. It is not contagious. It is not preventable or curable—yet.
- Billions of dollars are spent each year on medical expenses and special services. Lost productivity adds to the financial toll.

LECTURE-DEMONSTRATION
WORLD OF ELECTRONIC MUSIC

The new world of electronic music will be explored at a lecture-demonstration of the art at Southeastern Massachusetts University on February 28th by one of its foremost practitioners.

Sponsored by the SMU Music Guild, the program, set for 12:30 p.m. in the Recital Hall of the College of Visual and Performing Arts (Group VI) Building, will feature Professor Robert Ceely of the composition faculty at the New England Conservatory.

The concert, which is free and open to the public, will consist of live and taped examples by a number of composers, including himself, plus live demonstrations of techniques used in creating electronic music.

Ceely is the founder and director of the Conservatory's electronic music studio. He also is director of the Boston Experimental Electronic Music Projects which has the first voltage-controlled electronic music studio in the Boston area. His compositions have been performed in Europe, Asia, and the United States. In addition, he has composed music for nine films; two of his film

Poinsettia Care

This year's poinsettias can still be in bloom during the next holiday season with the proper care, according to the Massachusetts Department of Food and Agriculture. To maintain their color now during the winter months, Peter Kuzmiski, Director of the Department's Bureau of Plant Pest Control, says that the plants should have plenty of sunlight, moist soil, and cool temperatures. Kuzmiski also suggests following this schedule:

March 15, cut back to 6 to 8 inches and repot.

June 1 - Plunge pot outdoors in garden, semi-shaded area, feed.

July 15 - Cut back tip growth so plant is about 12 to 15 inches. Plant is now about half grown.

August 31 - Bring plant indoors and grow in sunny room.

October 1 - Cover plant for 14 consecutive hours each day. Use box or dark closet. Do not expose to light during this period (cover plant at 6:00 p.m., uncover at 8:00 a.m.). Flower buds require this dark period in order to form.

November 15 - Discontinue covering process. Plant should start to show color. Plant should receive food, light and water, and

Duff Building Protected

CLAREMONT DONATES FACADE EASEMENT ON JOHN DUFF BUILDING TO WHALE

The historic John Duff Building, located on City Hall Square in downtown New Bedford, will now be protected under the terms of an easement on the property given to WHALE by the owner, Claremont Financial Services, Inc.

The easement provides that the exterior of this downtown landmark cannot be altered in any way without the consent of the preservation organization. Claremont had restored the building in 1982 to the preservation standards issued by the Secretary of the Interior.

The brick commercial building was constructed in 1889 as the Odd Fellows Hall. It was designed by Caleb Hammond and contained the city's largest banquet hall on the fifth floor. In 1913 John Duff, a prominent New Bedford businessman, purchased the building. John Duff was the father of Mark Duff, who lived in WHALE's Rotch-Jones-Duff House at 396 County Street.

In 1935 the Duffs remodeled the commercial building, removing the 5th floor and the notable cast iron balconies. The building remained in Duff ownership until purchased by Claremont in 1979. The Duff Building is listed in the National Register of Historic Places as part of the Downtown Historic District. It is home to several businesses including New Bedford-Acushnet Cooperative Bank, Maxie's Restaurant and Claremont Management Company.

Patrick Carney, President of Claremont Financial Services, explained the reason for his donation. "We are a firm believer in the principle that one of downtown New Bedford's greatest assets is the superior architecture of its buildings. Claremont has taken great care that the restoration we have done downtown on the Duff Building, the Olympia Building, the Times Building, as well as the Car Barn in Weld Square, and our other projects meets the highest standard. By giving this easement to WHALE we insure that the restoration we have performed will always be maintained properly. WHALE is uniquely qualified to hold such an easement by its extensive experience in the restoration of historic buildings and in the commitment that it shares with us to revitalize and protect downtown New Bedford.

"We could think of no more appropriate recipient for the perpetual protection of this important facade than WHALE. WHALE's important preservation accomplishments in the city of New Bedford have achieved deserved nationwide recognition and our gift is further acknowledgement of the substantial contribution WHALE is making to the preservation of New Bedford history."

In addition to the easement Claremont made a $20,000 contribution, with which WHALE will establish an endowment to protect and enforce the easement in perpetuity.

WHALE Agent John Bullard commented "WHALE is extremely appreciative that Claremont has decided to protect this important downtown building by placing a restrictive easement on it. Claremont has done a tremendous amount for downtown New Bedford by their work on the Duff, Times and Olympia buildings. They have shown all of us that historic preservation and successful real estate development go hand in hand. Facade easements have proven, in other parts of the country, to be an advantageous way for owners to protect historic buildings. The endowment that Claremont allows us to establish will guarantee that WHALE will always be able to meet the responsibility of holding this easement.

"We believe that facade easements may be the way that many more historic buildings can be protected and we look forward to the expansion of this program. We are grateful to Patrick Carney for his imagination, generosity and leadership in this regard. We hope other owners of historic property may follow his lead."

This easement, thought to be the first of its kind in New Bedford, was designed by Attorney Raymond Lantz, representing Claremont, and Thomas N. Bucar, President of WHALE.

Continuing Education

DENTAL COURSES SCHEDULED AT SMU

Two continuing professional education courses for dentists, dental hygienists, and dental assistants will be offered by Southeastern Massachusetts University. A class in "Periodontal Therapy" will meet on February 27th from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Hawthorne Country Club in North Dartmouth. The other, "Dealing with Dental Anxiety", will meet on March 13th from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in Room 116 of the Group I Building at the North Dartmouth campus.

The first course will focus on treatment of periodontal cases, surgical procedures, and stabilization of loose teeth. Instructor for the course will be Dr. Ralph P. Pollack, a member of the American Board of Periodontology, and a former assistant clinical professor of periodontology at Boston University.

The second course, designed to teach dental professionals various techniques used to relieve patients of anxiety when going to the dentist, will be taught by J. Patricia Thatcher. A practicing dental hygienist for 16 years, she now has a private counseling practice for patients who experience fears and stress.

Money Management

FROM MASS. SOCIETY OF CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS, INC.
ONE IN TEN MAY BE TAXED ON SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFITS

There's both good news and bad news for Social Security recipients about to file 1984 income tax returns. The bad news is that, for the first time, your benefits may be taxed. The good news is that only one out of every 10 Social Security recipients is expected to have taxable benefits.

You'll have to sift through a new set of IRS formulae to find out if your benefits are taxable. According to the Massachusetts Society of CPAs, it helps if you grasp some of the tax law fundamentals.

According to the new rules, benefit recipients above a certain income will pay some tax on benefits received. Those who relied on Social Security as their sole income will probably be exempt. In fact, people 65 or older with low incomes may not even have to file a 1984 tax return. If you are in that age group and single, you need not file if your adjusted gross incomes is below $4,300. A couple 65 or older need not file a joint return if their adjusted gross income is less than $7,400.

If your income exceeds these levels, some preliminary calculations will demonstrate if your Social Security benefits are to be taxed.

Because the rules on taxing Social Security benefits are new, the IRS is taking special care to explain them. For instance, the IRS will send you Form SSA-1099 to show you how much in benefits you received in 1984. Along with the form you should get a worksheet to calculate your personal Social Security formula. But before going through that, CPAs suggest some easy-to-follow alternative measures to determine if your benefits will be taxed.

On a piece of scrap paper write down your adjusted gross income. Add to it one half of your 1984 Social Security benefits plus any income you received from tax-exempt securities, such as municipal bonds. If the total is more than $25,000 for a single, or $32,000 for joint filers, part of your benefits will be taxed.

The amount of your benefits that will be taxed is either: (1) half the amount over the $25,000 or $32,000 floor, whichever applies to you, or (2) half of your 1984 Social Security benefits. Choose the lesser of the two and add it to your adjusted gross income.

Here's an illustration of how this new tax can affect senior citizens. Let's say a couple has an adjusted gross income of $28,000. They also receive $8,000 in Social Security benefits and earn $3,000 in interest income from municipal bonds. They must add to their $28,000 adjusted gross income half of their benefits ($4,000) plus the $3,000 in interest income from the tax-exempt securities. Since the total of

CAN YOU IMAGINE FEELING GOOD ABOUT TAX PREPARATION?

It's that time of year again. Reams of coded forms, instructions Einstein couldn't decipher and the feeling that the IRS will take one look at your return, smile and book the next flight to your home town.

Taxes. For most people, it's simply confusing.

They talk about making it simple. But they never seem to do anything about it.

Judy Golten's been doing something about it. She has been for more than 10 years. For individual, joint and business returns, Judy takes the trauma out of tax preparation. You get more than accurate returns based on the most recent changes in tax laws. You get sound advice, clear answers, and personalized service — a feeling of confidence every step of the way.

So, if you are concerned about taxes, call Judy Golten at 758-6286. Maybe 1985 is the year you can feel good about your tax preparation.

JUDY GOLTEN - Accurate and Professional Tax Preparation Services - 758-6286

$35,000 is greater than the $32,000 floor that applies to joint filers, they must pay tax on either half their benefits or half the amount over the floor. In this case, since half the amount over the floor, $1,500 is less than half their $8,000 in benefits ($4,000), they will add the $1,500 to their taxable income.

If you still have questions concerning the new rules on taxation of Social Security benefits, CPAs note that the new Form 1040 instructions include an entire section dealing with it. In addition, the IRS is about to release a publication (with greater detail) for senior citizens. Ask your local IRS office for Publication No. 915.

If you need assistance with your 1984 income tax return, the American Association of Retired Persons sponsors a free nationwide outreach program called Tax Aide carried on by 20,000 volunteers at 9,000 sites. Last year, more than 1.3 million senior citizens were helped. If necessary, Tax Aide volunteers come to your home. For information on the nearest Tax Aide center call your local IRS office. Your state CPA society may also be of help.

extensive computer based, on-line data bases contained in DIALOG information resources.

"These data bases," said SBDC Director Clyde Mitchell, "open up a whole new vista of possibilities for the business person. It allows for gathering, synthesizing, and utilizing the vast knowledge and expertise available worldwide to solve a particular problem or exploit a business opportunity. This is a valuable tool extensively used by big business, but largely unavailable for use by the small business until now.

"No matter what the problem or opportunity, there probably has been research conducted and/or literature written on the subject. With this system we can scan the millions of facts, statistics and information and select data pertinent to our area of concern. This entire process can be accomplished in just minutes, whereas, without this system, if not impossible, it would take months to do manually."

Access of DIALOG is an extension of the Small Business Development Center's ongoing service to the small business community. As in the past there will be no charge for this additional service.

To explore this new business opportunity call the SBDC at 673-9783.

Suggestions for Sodium Watchers

If you are watching your sodium intake and are looking for something healthy to snack on look for fresh fruits! Most fruits and vegetables in their "just-picked" state are naturally low in sodium, according to the Massachusetts Department of Food and Agriculture.

The National Research Council (NRC) suggests an intake of 1,100 to 3,300 milligrams of sodium per day for healthy Americans. One teaspoon of salt contains about 2,000 milligrams of sodium, whereas apple, pears, and cranberries contain only 1 to 2 milligrams of sodium per 100 grams. Another good snacking idea is fresh vegetables prepared for a crudite platter ... broccoli, peppers or radishes contain only 10 to 18 milligrams of sodium!

But fresh fruits and vegetables are only part of the dietary picture, how do you known how much sodium is contained in other foods you eat?

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has ruled that, beginning July 1, 1985, food manufacturers that make nutritional claims will be required to list the sodium content of the food along with calories, protein, carbohydrate, vitamins, and minerals. Also, the FDA has ruled that products that already carry listings of calories, protein, fat and other nutrient information will be required to carry the new sodium labeling. In addition, fortified foods, which are foods that have had additions made, as in the addition of vitamins A and D to milk, will be required to change to the new labeling. Sodium labeling will be voluntary on food items that do not carry nutrition labeling. Currently about half of the processed foods we buy now carry some sort of nutrition labeling.

As for beverages, the FDA has ruled that for now, soft drinks and other products containing 90 percent or more water do not have to carry a list of the new sodium definitions. This is because the variability of natural sodium in the water used in these products makes it difficult to label the products with a consistent sodium figure that is accurate.

The FDA has defined five terms that will be allowed on labels to describe sodium content:

*SODIUM FREE - Less than 5 milligrams per serving.

*VERY LOW SODIUM - 35 milligrams or less per serving.

*LOW SODIUM - 140 milligrams or less per serving.

*REDUCED SODIUM - Processed so that the usual level of sodium is reduced by 75%.

*UNSALTED, NO SALT ADDED, OR WITHOUT SALT ADDED - Processed without added salt, in a product that usually has added salt.

For a leaflet offering information on produce & recipes, "The Fresh Approach to Low Sodium Cooking", send a stamped self-addressed envelope to the Massachusetts Department of Food and Agriculture, 100 Cambridge Street, Boston, MA. 02202.
